KALOS

HINGHAM HIGH "69" HINGHAM, MASS.

"All things are of one pattern made . . .

. . . obtaining the goal . . .

. . . learning the skills in various fields . . .

. . . putting them to use . . .

. . . working it out . . .

. . . empty, but not for long . . .

. . . it knows no end . . .

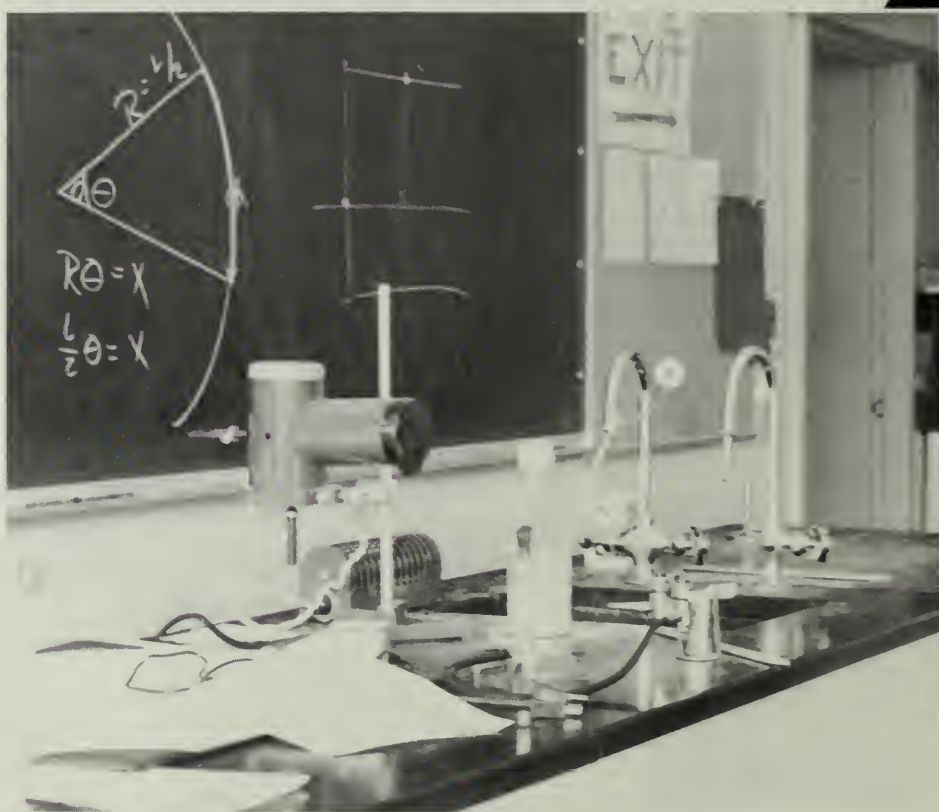

. . . spirit . . .

. . . trying to score . . .

. . . seeming to be many, and are but one . . ."

. . . formulas combine . . .

. . . and produce actions . . .

. . . solitude, but not loneliness . . .

. . . memories . . .

. . . friendships that develop . . .

. . . teacher + student = learning . . .

. . . heads down: bottoms up . . . play magic fingers: play

. . . one more inch to the great escape . . .

Kalos is the kaleidoscope of our life;

for as each fragment of color is essential to the total design, so is every event,

no matter how small, important to the total personality of Hingham High.

He was that real right boy, I've known . . .

IN MEMORIAM MICHAEL C. McLORE

He was that real right boy, I've known since 3rd grade.
He heard the Lord call to him to be with Him that day.
His friends were far.
His friends were near.
He had no trouble til this year.

His quiet disposition, his lovely way,
Helped to make a better day.
So let's remember him as that real right boy,
The young man who came our way.

Virginia Shute

Death be not proud . . .

Death be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so,
For those whom thou think'st there dost overthrow,
Die not, poor Death, not yet canst thou kill me.

John Donne

Mr. Theodore Ricci

. . . Sports--a means of self expression.
The anxiety and frustration of defeat is forgotten with victory. Individuals sacrificing of themselves, function as a team, striving for a win. Some obtain the goal; some do not, yet all are left with memories not soon to be forgotten, all are left with the pride and self-satisfaction known only to the athlete--Sports . . .
